School Blaze

I have always been afraid (1) _____ fires because when I was eight years old, my boarding school burned down. Even now, I clearly remember (2) _____ up in the big bedroom late at night. Something (3) _____ to be wrong, but I did not know what it was. I got (4) _____ of bed, walked to the door and put my hand on the glass. It was hot, and (5) _____ though there were no alarms or bells, it was clear that the building was (6) _____ fire.

There were about twelve (7) _____ us there, but as the eldest, I had to check the rooms to (8) _____ sure that everyone was safe. I walked round the place, telling everyone they (9) _____ better get out at once. Fortunately, we were all (10) _____ to practising fire drills, so everyone knew (11) _____ to do. We (12) _____ our way down a series of iron ladders to the ground, and we all (13) _____ to get down safely. As (14) _____ as we got round to the front of the building, we saw (15) _____ bad it was. The flames were hundreds of metres high and reached up into the night sky. The fire brigade was called, but (16) _____ the time they arrived there was very (17) _____ they could do and the building was completely destroyed. One boy was killed in the fire, but (18) _____ is no doubt that many more would (19) _____ died if we (20) _____ not practised fire drills regularly.
